Family is an important and main link of society. In the heart of the proverb that the country begins at the threshold, with the family, it is meant that the development of the country directly depends on the peace and stability of families. The young generation is formed in the family, grows up, raising the mature generation to become a perfect person is the task of more women. Today, great attention is being paid to the role of women in society, their spiritual maturity, education and occupation. Strengthening of families, the responsibility of fathers and mothers in raising children, the importance of being exemplary fathers and mothers, and increasing the role of mothers in the education of people in the society are considered priorities. A child who grows up in a peaceful and harmonious family is the happiest child, but people who deprive their sons and daughters of the love of their father or mother under the pretext of trivial difficulties they face in life do not understand the value of the family so deeply. It would be a great light upon light to explain to young people who are on the threshold of starting a family the duties of men and women towards adults, relatives and children in accordance with our traditions. This, in turn, leads to a decrease in the number of divorces in families.

To study the foreign experience of increasing the socio-political activity of women, to analyze the issues of women's rights and legal interests in national legislation, to identify the main directions of socio-political activity carried out locally (scientific-theoretical knowledge, skills). Issues of study through methods (contact-interview, focus-group research, telephone survey) are envisaged.

Today, the expression of a modern woman is often heard. Well, when we think of a modern woman, what qualities do young people imagine?

A modern woman is equally responsible for her duties in the family and in society. A kind woman, a mother and a wise leader can perfectly fulfill the role of an employee. Along with work, she is able to manage women's cooking, beauty and relationships with relatives. For a woman, she always remembers that the family is sacred. With these qualities, she can be an example to those around her. A modern woman understands economics and politics well, can correctly analyze processes and draw conclusions. In recent years, during the implementation of socio-political and socio-economic reforms in our country, it is necessary to create conditions for women to realize their abilities and opportunities in various fields and industries, to ensure unconditional observance of their rights and legal interests, and to protect them. Comprehensive support, social-legal, psychological assistance are being carried out on a large scale. Providing socio-legal and psychological assistance to women who have fallen into a serious social situation, providing them with targeted support through the "Women's Directory", strengthening the family institution and supporting women is the main policy of the state. defined as one of the directions.

In our country, attention is being paid to the family and its all-round support, the social and psychological protection and support of the family, especially the system of working with women with difficult social and living conditions, unemployed and socially inactive women great attention is being paid to the issue of further improvement, their socio-legal, psychological, medical and material support and important social projects are being implemented by our state in this regard.

At this point, it is important to systematically organize spiritual and educational activities among women and increase their effectiveness. We all know well that negative situations arise from spiritual gaps and the only way to prevent such situations is, of course, spiritual and educational measures. In order for spiritual and educational events to be effective, it is necessary to follow the order of their organization, strengthen practical cooperation with the agencies and organizations responsible for organizing events and closely support their activities in this regard. Because conducting separate work gives less results, conducting spiritual-educational and educational work in cooperation has always yielded positive results, the need to act together in this regard has justified itself in practice. The need for systematic conduct and coordination of these works poses urgent tasks to those responsible for today's spiritual and educational process. Therefore, when organizing and conducting spiritual and educational events, it is necessary to take into account the specific characteristics of regions and neighborhoods, but also take into account the specific aspects of effective organization of events.

How is efficiency achieved in this process? The results of this process are achieved by providing comprehensive support to women in a difficult social situation, including women with disabilities, their children and their families. In the process of communicating with them, it is required to treat the citizen, his thoughts and values with respect, understanding and attention, to operate based on the possibilities of his potential and to regularly improve his skills.

This is an important factor in timely identification of the problems of women who need special attention, advising them, directing them to the relevant responsible offices and organizations (medical, legal, psychological, educational, etc.) and mobilizing their opportunities.

Working with women in a difficult social situation, including women with disabilities, in the process of studying their problems, problems and their root causes (internal, external factors causing the problem) and the internal possibilities of the family (positive, i.e. strengths), as well as the opportunity of exemplary families and citizens in the neighborhood, as well as the purposeful use of both opportunities, it is necessary to have the ability to work in cooperation with the family, its members and responsible organizations and agencies.

Based on the above, it is permissible to cite the following recommendations for improving the effectiveness of the women's activist in working with women in a difficult social situation, including women with disabilities:

- timely identification of the problems of women who have fallen into a serious social situation, including women with disabilities, by women's activists;
- record the results of the study in questionnaires and determine the level (category) of their need for social protection;
- formulating individual programs for targeted work with them and providing them with comprehensive support and carrying out specific goal-oriented work;
- to issue orders to the agencies and organizations responsible for social protection, to be able to put the issue to them correctly;
- to create conditions and opportunities for women's activists to regularly improve their knowledge of working with families and women who are in a difficult social situation, including women with disabilities, and to organize permanent working seminars for them;
- systematic one-on-one interviews with women who have fallen into a serious social situation, including women with disabilities, by women's activists, to have accurate information about whether the problems have been solved or not;
- providing comprehensive assistance to women in severe social situations, including women with disabilities, their children and their families, targeted use of the family's internal capabilities;

- it is appropriate to respect the dignity and values of every citizen, to work in close cooperation with exemplary families, responsible organizations and agencies in the neighborhood.

Women in a serious social situation, including women with disabilities, and their families should be under the constant attention and control of a women's activist, conducting targeted and systematic (practical) work with them individually, it is important that all responsible agencies and organizations responsible for supporting them and solving their problems to know their duties and social responsibilities in this regard. The results of the observations show that most of the conflicts in the family are related to unemployment and financial support. A woman who has a profession or trade can meet her material needs independently. In Muslim families, financial support is mainly a male responsibility. But if a woman also works, she will first find her place in society. She is happy to earn material income while devoting her time to the profession she loves. She works on herself, takes care of herself, does not get involved in the small details of life.

How important are women's rights in world politics? Events of various nature observed in different regions of the world today led to the embodiment of women in world politics not only as an active subject (in administration, peace maintenance, economic processes), but also as an important object of social relations. Also, as a result of poverty, internal conflicts, diseases, economic and political crises, the focus of economic, social and political relations on the issue of women has become a demand of the time.

Taking into account that 49.6% of the world's population is made up of 34 women, their comprehensive support has become an important factor in the economic development of countries. She emphasizes that issues such as the feminization of poverty, unemployment, the dire consequences of the environment and the participation of women in the processes of making important decisions should be given the most urgent importance.

Guarantees of women's equal rights in the Republic of Uzbekistan, their role in society, their activities in the field of public administration, ensuring women's employment, further developing their professional potential, studying the stages of increasing women's activity in all spheres of society. We can give scientific proposals and practical recommendations regarding:

- removing the concept of "feminine professions" formed in the society or expanding its types, making it possible to freely choose a profession;
- to establish remote working activities so that homework, child rearing does not become an obstacle to professional activity;

- development of projects that encourage creativity among women by establishing extensive cooperation with non-governmental organizations. Through this, they can further develop their abilities (at home), create an opportunity to show them;
- launching projects to increase women's literacy in legal education, increasing women's participation in political careers, state administration, new approach to jobs suitable for them.
